A Memoir by Dr. Juan Carlos Romero

This is the incredible story of a young man who dropped out of eighth grade in Barcelona and went on to become the president of an American university. It's a story of perseverance, determination, and the power of education.

Juan Carlos Romero was born in Barcelona, Spain, in 1961. He was a bright child, but he struggled in school. He was often bullied by his classmates, and he felt like he didn't fit in. When he was 14 years old, he dropped out of school.

After dropping out of school, Romero worked a variety of odd jobs. He was a dishwasher, a construction worker, and a factory worker. He also spent time in prison.

In 1984, Romero decided to turn his life around. He enrolled in a community college, and he began to excel in his studies. He went on to earn a bachelor's degree, a master's degree, and a doctorate in education.

In 2009, Romero was appointed president of Sacramento State University. He was the first Latino president of a major American university.

Romero's story is an inspiration to us all. It shows us that it is never too late to turn our lives around. It also shows us that anything is possible if we have the determination to succeed.
