Alma was born in Sarajevo, Bosnia, in 1992, just as the Bosnian War was beginning. For the next four years, she and her family lived in a constant state of fear, hiding from snipers and bombs. They witnessed firsthand the horrors of war, including the death of their friends and neighbors.

But even in the midst of such darkness, Alma found hope. She found hope in her family, her friends, and her community. She found hope in the simple things, like playing with her toys and going to school. And she found hope in her dreams of a better future.

Memoirs of a War Child is Alma's story of survival. It is a story of hope and resilience, of the power of the human spirit to overcome even the most unimaginable horrors. It is a story that will stay with you long after you finish reading it.
