

Prisoner of the Khaleefa: A Thrilling True Story of Survival and Captivity in Sudan

In 1884, Austrian officer Rudolph Carl von Slatin Pasha was captured by the Mahdist forces in Sudan. He spent the next 12 years as a prisoner of the Khalifa Abdullah al-Taashi, the cruel and despotic leader of the Mahdist state. During his captivity, Slatin Pasha endured unimaginable hardships and witnessed firsthand the horrors of the Mahdist regime.

In his memoir, Prisoner of the Khaleefa, Slatin Pasha recounts his experiences in vivid and harrowing detail. He describes the squalid conditions of his prison, the brutal treatment he received from his captors, and the constant fear of death that hung over him. He also provides a unique glimpse into the inner workings of the Mahdist state, and the fanatical beliefs that drove its followers.
